The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. It is not our times they do not.

PORKY RAY

Now that the government has decided to abandon birth control, race suicide, murder and other policies in the little and big pig kingdom, we hope that Nam will be restored to its proper and rightful place next to a couple of "sunny side ups," and its "jumping over the moon" price antics will cease.

Instead of being "plowed under" this year the little piggies will go to market, and those that stay at home will not be under a killing yoke by our alphabetized administrators of the AAA.

With pork astronomically stunting 116 per cent since May of 1933, the meat has become a minus quality in the vast majority of homes, due to an allegedly bright idea of killing porkers for the benefit of those who raise it.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace who has some very weird ideas regarding economics, has inferentially admitted, at least, that his plan has been a very great success, but in an inverse ratio. He has decided to hold a referendum in the corn-hog area on the 26th of this month to confirm the proposal. If that is the result the question of pork re-population is going to be left to the porkers themselves. If this is due an increase of about 30 percent is expected by the next pig crop.

This belated acknowledgment of failure by the agricultural department head may ease up the situation somewhat, but a 30 per cent increase in the supply, it is doubtful will bring the price of the meat down to the point where the ordinary man's purse can afford it.

"HOT" POTATO

In the meantime Secretary Wallace has found that he has gotten hold of a very hot potato in the new law for regimentation of apud raising. Instead of trying to put the measure into effect, he is doing everything possible not to. The protests assumed such volume that it was decided that inaction was the better part of wisdom. Naturally that is not the reason given for shying away, but the excuse given tools no one.

Some day, some time, perhaps the days of experimentation will come to an end and the laws of (Continued on page 14)

Ladies Night To Be Big Affair

The ladies, who are to be the guests of the Scots, Friday October 18th are assured of an abundance of good things to eat and unexcelled entertainment.

For the turkey dinner to be given at the Richmond Club house at 6:30 the choicest turkeys, that the market affords, have been selected. Ten of the national birds, each weighing 16 pounds have been fattened and will be in prime condition for roasting on that date. Of course all the trimmings will go with the succulent fowl.

The banquet hall is now in course of decorative preparation for the event, which has aroused so much interest in Scots and Masonic circles that 200 reservations have already been made. The Halloween motif will be carried out in the floral arrangements.

Following the dinner there will be a two-hour entertainment, to which the Oakland Juvenile Troupe and a well known cartoonist will contribute numbers. All Masons and their wives, unable to attend the dinner will be welcomed.

It is necessary to make reservations for the dinner.

1,200 Men Now At Work At Ford Plant

The Richmond assembly plant of the Ford company is now in full production on a schedule to be maintained throughout the winter months, it was announced yesterday by Clarence A. Bullwinkel, manager, through the Chamber of Commerce.

The statement came following the big preview luncheon meeting at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco on Tuesday, at which the sensational new 1936 models were unveiled for the benefit of dealers and other interested persons. The cars will be on view to the public on Saturday.

Bullwinkel declared the local plant is now turning out 200 units a day with a force of 1,200 men, and that if possible this is the schedule that will be maintained throughout November, December, January and February.

"We are attempting to carry out the wishes of the administration, and equalize employment," said Bullwinkel. "If we should at this time build up our working force, and our production beyond the present levels, it is possible we might not be able to maintain it consistently during the four months period ahead. Mine Strikers Battle In Pits

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 16—Men roared today far underground in the Wales coal fields, while meetings were held here to decide whether the coal strike should be extended to include 76,000 men.

Rival miners clashed in fierce fist-fights 800 feet below the surface at Trelewis, Glamorgan, and several received minor injuries.

A conference of union officials here was expected to decide tonight whether to extend the strike, which includes 2,400 miners who were remaining underground to a total of 176,000 union miners.

ACTION OF UNION AIDES BLOCK MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16—A new crisis in the San Francisco waterfront trouble loomed tonight after longshoremen leaders, roused angrily from a meeting with employers after refusing to proceed unless a stenographer was excluded.

The meeting, a special session of the Joint Labor Relations Committee, composed of both employers and union representatives, broke up with settlement of a major controversy indefinitely blocked.

The union was to have answered the employers' demand for the registration of additional longshoremen.

DECISION ASKED

The Waterfront Employers Association today asked the Federal Arbitrator M. C. Sloss with hope for a prompt decision.

Later, Harry Bridges, president of the U. L. A. San Francisco local, claimed the employers have no right under the 1934 award to have a stenographer officially record the meeting.

BRIDGES EXPLAINS

He explained the union's objection to the presence of a stenographer thus:

"At a meeting of that sort, both sides might make remarks that wouldn't look well in a court record. The employers know we did (Continued on page 14)

Great Bologna Robbery Under Probe By Cops

A modern Sherlock Holmes, and us the needle in the arm, a witness in Richmond to solve the great Bologna robbery.

Leaving a few hunks of Bologna and several slices of bread as clues, the robber made away with several tons of tools from a used car parking lot on Macdonald avenue near Fifteenth street. The theft occurred sometime Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning.

G. F. Fallman, of 1518 Macdonald, reported that when the tools were taken he found the Bologna and bread in the seat of an automobile parked in the rear of his lot.

Evidently the thief brought his lunch along and either ate it before, during or after the theft of the tools from the used car lot.

Safeway Store Reported Robbed

Burglars entered the Safeway store at 520 Macdonald avenue on Tuesday night, robbed the cashiers of a pay telephone, ate cookies, drank soda pop, took several cans, and left through a side door. The amount of cash taken from the store was not learned.

Entrance was effected by climbing to the roof of an adjoining building with a ladder, using the ladder as a bridge between the two buildings and then using it to go down through the skylight of the store.

Theft Of Machine Is Reported To Police

Theft of an automobile from the sell near Fifteenth street, was reported to police last evening by P. Larsen, 5702 Central avenue, Ce-rto.

The car, a 1927 black sedan, was stolen sometime between 7 and 8 P. M. from its parking place.

100,000 Ethiopians To Defend Harar From Attack By Invaders

ROME, Oct. 16—UP—A major Italian offensive on the Ethiopian city of Harar in the path of the Fascist drive toward Addis Ababa from the south was believed imminent tonight.

Capture of Harar, located near Dire Dawa which is on the railroad to Addis Ababa, would give Italy a commanding hold on the southern section of the "black empire." It also would clear the way for "cutting the railroad to isolate Addis Ababa from the outside world."

FIGHT EXPECTED

The war of fighting of the war is expected in that offensive as it is known that Dajazmach Nasihi is mobilizing a huge army of more than 100,000 savage Ethiopians for resistance.

Reports from Addis Ababa tonight said several hundred more Ethiopians surrendered in the area around Aksum, throwing their arms on the ground after the example set by the Holy City in surrendering without firing a shot.

HAILE TO LEAD TROOPS

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 16—UP—Emperor Haile Selassie tonight ordered his cabinet members to prepare to join him in the field, indicating his belief that the time to strike against the invading Italians is near.

Every one of the ministers is a warrior in his own right with a feudal entourage pledged to follow him into battle and defend him to death.

The emperor himself will command the shabby, uniformed imperial guard of 3,000 European trained troops.

Grand Jury To Hear Complaint; Auditors Named

MARTINEZ, Oct. 16—Announced today that the grand jury will meet Tuesday night and will hear J. L. Behringer of Walnut Creek on a complaint that Justice of the Peace Clifford Thomson had failed to set a date of hearing on a trial was made today by Foreman Louis Pedrizetti.

Mrs. Behringer charged some weeks ago that Mrs. Van Abele of Walnut Creek had struck her, and preferred a complaint against her. Behringer complained that the case has dragged without a trial date being set. Judge Thomson is on a vacation but he has been quoted as saying a trial date was not fixed because he believed the matter could be settled out of court.

Routine matters will also occupy the jury.

The grand jury, it was announced today, has retained the firms of F. W. Larentz & Company and Bullock, Kellogg & Mitchell of San Francisco to make the annual audit of the county's books. The firms submitted a joint bid.

These arrested on gambling charges and later released on bail were W. M. Pechart, 45, alleged operator of the Rancho; F. M. Tibbets, 64, H. L. Mathey, 33; Ed Salas, 24; Nate Rosenberg, 25; J. E. Goldberg, 34, and Elmer Hurley, 56. Pechart was released on $500 bail, the others on $250 bail each. Pechart paid the bail.

E. P. Bryant, Pioneer Local Man Is Called

Friends are mourning the death of E. P. Bryant, 78, of 535 Sixth street, who passed away at the Santa Fe hospital in Los Angeles yesterday.

Deceased was a pioneer resident of Richmond, having lived here for the past 28 years. He was a well known, and well liked Richmond resident. He had been employed for many years as a brakeman for the Santa Fe railway.

Death came after an illness of many weeks' duration. He had been confined to the railroad company's hospital in the south for some time.

Bryant is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Bryant; one son, W. H. Bryant, of Richmond; and two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Miller of Glenn's Ferry, Idaho, and Mrs. Truman Glover of Richmond. He also leaves two grand daughters, Mrs. Reese Barnes and Miss Helen Glover, both of Richmond.

He was a member of the O. R. E., the O. R. C. and the Eagles.

The body will be shipped to the Wilson & Kratzer chapel, which will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

Auto Accident Victim Proves A False Alarm

There were great doings in West Richmond last evening with policemen and ambulances chasing hither, thither and yon. And it was all in good, clear fun.

It all started out when a boy reported to police station that he saw a man get hit by a machine near the bathhouse. The man, he said was lying in the street.

A policeman rushed to the scene as the desk officer called a Wilson and Kratzer ambulance. The officer found the man, whose name has been deleted for obvious reasons, lying in the street, bleeding profusely from a cut on the nose. A few seconds later the ambulance arrived on the scene but the injured man absolutely refused to be carted to the hospital.

After he had been questioned by the policeman, the injured man admitted he had been drinking and that, instead of being hit by a car, he had merely slipped and fell down hitting his nose on the curb.

The ambulance drove away and the cop took the man home.

Program Enjoyed By Longfellow Students

As a reward for their excellent work in the school's paper drive held recently, Longfellow School students were privileged to hear a concert yesterday given by Miss Gwendolyn Kalk, a young musical prodigy. Miss Kalk played twelve different musical instruments among which were musical bells, glockenspiel, a saw, a violin, piano, drums and trumpet.

Don Seaman, scout executive, announced that a training program will be held in the very near future.

Reports were heard on the activities of the Cub Scouts. This branch of Scouting is enjoying increasing popularity and growth, it was reported.

Lester Richards presided over the meeting while Harold Garfield led the discussions.

Hunt Is Started For Missing Waiter

VIRGINIA CITY, Oct. 16—UP—Sheriff T. L. James tonight opened a search for Bruce Hamer, 35, formerly of Fort Worth, Tex., missing here since October 9. Hamer disappeared from a restaurant where he was employed, leaving all his belongings and money.

ENVOY SAYS ACT MAY BE NECESSARY

SHANGHAI, Thursday, Oct. 17—UP—A hint that Japan may have to "separate" the north China provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Suiyuan, Chanhai and Chansi from China proper was given today by a spokesman for the Japanese embassy to the United Press.

Japan's Kwantung army moved into North China several months ago to clean out anti-Japanese elements.

WARNING GIVEN

The spokesman was discussing "Chinese fears of a Japanese-sponsored movement for separation of North China from the Chinese Central Government at Nanking which have been intensified by Dairen dispatches telling of a conference of Kwantung army leaders.

Such fears, he said, "would be warranted only if Nanking intends to refuse to co-operate with Japan in promoting and developing the natural economic affinity between Northern China and Manchukuo and in combatting Communistic influence working through outer Mongolia."

JAPAN WILL ACT

"Japan feels that these objectives which are equally in China's and Japan's interests can be achieved best with Nanking's voluntary co-operation without a change in the political status in the north.

"But if such co-operation is lacking Japan must proceed independently, which doubtless will mean the political separation of the provinces from China proper. Future events depend upon Nanking's attitude. Ultimately far eastern peace depends upon the co-operation of China with Manchukuo and Japan. However, this does not mean that Japan is pressing for early recognition of Manchukuo although doubtless this will come in due course."

Labor Council Has Reports At Meet

Reports were heard on membership increases when the Central Trades and Labor Council met last evening at Brotherhood hall. J. L. Von Tellor presided.

Several visitors spoke during the short, routine business session.

MOTHER FAILS TO BACK UP INSANITY PLEA

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—UP—Mrs. Alice Zenge refused on the witness stand to testify that she believed her son, Mandeville, was insane at the time of the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer.

She said she thought he acted "strange" after learning his sweetheart had married another man but her refusal to express an opinion as to his sanity was a blow to the defense.

"Could you say whether, in your opinion, your son was sane or insane?" Defense Attorney Joseph Green asked.

"I could not say," Mrs. Zenge replied, her voice trembling and barely audible in the packed courtroom of criminal Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

The state waived cross-examination.

Previously Mrs. Zenge had described the conduct of her son after July 14 when he learned that Louis Schaffer, his sweetheart for eight years, had married Dr. Bauer.

"He ate little," the mother said, "talked very seldom and he would lie on the floor for hours thinking to himself. He would not confide in his troubles to anyone. He rarely sat at the table. He did not start any conversation. This was contrary to his nature."

Preceding Mrs. Zenge on the stand was Irvin Bertram of Winconda, Mo., who testified that Zenge was so heart-broken that he didn't care whether he lived or died.

Ouster Of Reds By WPA Denied

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Victor P. Ridder, newly appointed WPA administrator, today denied published reports that there would be wholesale ouster of communists on WPA projects.

No employee on the WPA pay rolls will be dismissed because of any political activity, including communism, Ridder said.

Asked whether he would reinstate a communist worker who might have been discharged by one of his associates, Ridder said he would if the worker had been discharged for anything but failure to do his job.

WHITE MEN NOT SAFE IN THE CITY OF HAGAR

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 16.—UP—Two former European army officers, fresh from French hand observations in Harar, told the United Press today that anti-foreign feeling in that Ethiopian stronghold has reached the boiling point.

With 100000 bearded warriors in the city, all men coming for battle, white men are in danger of being mistaken for an Italian, they said.

The new mayor, Colonel Zeltin, a Latvian, and Milnes Gaskell, a former officer in the Goldstream Guards, reached Djibouti yesterday with word that they had been expelled from Harar, where both had been acting as newspaper correspondents. Because they were suspected of spying.

SLEEP UNDER GUARD

"Harar is a dangerous place," Gaskell was suspected of espionage because he lunched with the Italian Consul last week.

CONSOLE SAFE

Anxiety that had been felt here regarding the safety of the Italian minister there, when the latter comes through on an Addis Ababa-Djibouti train. Arrival of the train brings him to this seaport, is expected momentarily.

Three Convicted, Seven Freed In Sheriff Slaying

AZTEC, N. M., Oct. 16.—UP—Verdicts of murder in the second degree were returned tonight by a district court jury against three of the ten defendants charged with the slaying of Sheriff M. R. Carmichael of McKinley county on April 4 in the mob riot.

Seven of the defendants were acquitted.

The jury was out for four hours before returning the verdict.

Death Mystery Still Unsolved

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—UP—With no motive apparent, a coroner's jury late today returned a verdict that Harriet Walke, 29-year-old motion picture extra was slain by "persons unknown with homicidal intent."

Six witnesses told how Mrs. Walke fell screaming to the sidewalk a half block from her home Sunday night with a bullet in her hip which severed an artery.

Several witnesses related that an automobile drew alongside Mrs. Walke and a round like the pop of a small gun was heard before she dropped to the sidewalk.

Rangers Search For Lost Hunter

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 16.—UP—More than 100 rangers and guides, tonight continued a search for James K. Dowell, Lemoore deer hunting party in the rugged Stony Creek district, between Sequoia and General Grant Parks, during a blizzard Monday night.

Despite sub-zero temperatures, the last three nights rangers have been able to survive the storm.

Phantom Burglar Sent To Preston

AN JOSE, Oct. 16.—UP—Reynold Griffith, San Jose's 15-year-old "phantom" burglar, who for two months battled police and then escaped from a detention home here, was sentenced to Preston institution for boys until he is 21 by Judge William P. James of juvenile court today.

Griffith was sentenced with Richard Martini, 19, who aided the boy robber in his recent escape.

Arraign Mad Butcher For Three Deaths

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16.—Pas-cal L. Boyer, alias George L. Rutledge, was taken to Farmington today, arraigned on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of three persons near Mountaint last Sunday and then by courage broke.

"I wish the mob had lynched me," he declared. "It would have been welcomed. Oh, no one knows how I've been crucified."

Jailers said every precaution will be taken to prevent Boyer carrying out a boast he made to police.

"You'll never bring me to trial," threats of mob action at Farmington led Sheriff Joseph Holt back to keep Boyer here.

He is accused of murdering Mrs. Blanche Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. J. Loren East.

Border Town Is In Terror Of Rebel Attack

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, Oct. 16.—UP—Reports that several hundred rebel raiders, organized in bands of 100 or more were advancing on the border threw the International line into panic tonight.

Reports, unconfirmed, said the town of Santa Cruz, 15 miles east of here had fallen into rebel hands and city officials of Sasabe, a border town, across the Arizona line had evacuated and were fleeing here.

Seventy Mexican customs officials, under command of Manuel Mascareñas, collector of customs, patrolled this town, heavily armed tonight, following rumors that a rebel group was marching toward Nogales.

PLANES CIRCLE REBELS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16.—UP—Three thousand Federal soldiers were stationed in strategic points in Sonora State tonight while military planes made observation flights seeking the band which attacked the town of Santa Cruz Monday and killed the mayor and police chief.

Labor Insurgents Meet With Defeat

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—Insurgent forces within the American Federation of Labor were defeated tonight in their efforts to push the Federation into a new policy of mass organization of workers throughout the industry.

The convention went into its first night session to carry on the fight over the industrial union issue.

John P. Frey, head of the metal trades department said craft unions were the backbone of the labor movement and argued against any change.

"Five And Dime" Food And Drinks Featured By S. P.

If more proof were needed to convince travelers that rail transportation is not only the safest and most comfortable, but also the most economical, this should be conclusive:

Supplementing its famous "Meal Select" dining car service, by means of which the prices of breakfast, luncheons and dinners were reduced 50 per cent, Southern Pacific has just introduced a new "tray service" featuring light refreshments for five and ten cents.

The tray service is provided in chair cars, coaches and tourist sleepers to serve passengers who do not wish to avail themselves of facilities in the dining cars, it is pointed out in the company announcement.

Included in the offering of "five and dime" foods and drinks are sandwiches, cookies, doughnuts, coffee, milk, orangeade, tomato juice, soda waters, apples, oranges and other items.

Don't Make Light of Homesickness For It Can Sometimes Be Even Fatal

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

IT IS frequently heard that there is no use in people allowing homesickness to get the better of them. That it shows a lack of mental balance, and certainly of self-control. I sometimes wish that kind of people could be real downright homesick, with no chance to get home for a while, and see how foolish they thought it was.

I am quite convinced that homesickness develops without any action of the conscious mind. The subconscious mind may be doing something, but that is all. Several years ago I had under my care a young lady eighteen years old who suffered from a severe fracture of the base of the skull in an automobile accident. She was taken to the hospital and the consensus of opinion was that she would undoubtedly die.

She was entirely unconscious and soon became very delirious. Her fever ran high and within a week, she was in a ravine delirium. All efforts to control the condition were used. Spinal punctures to relieve pressure and medication to quiet nervousness and sleeplessness were used, all to no avail. Narcothics did no good. She would have moments when she might recognize her parents, but would soon revert back to the delirious state.

Better With Parents

None of her mummings referred to home and she seldom spoke the names of her brothers and sisters. The only time I could see any improvement was when her father or mother was with her. The brothers and sisters were not allowed to see her.

She became so noisy, that even in isolation she disturbed other inmates of the hospital. I asked the father to ask his wife to bring her if they could endure the girl's ravings, if we brought her home. They readily said yes and the girl was moved home in the hope that familiar surroundings might help.

About half an hour after reaching home, her five-year-old brother crept up to her bed, took her hand, and called her by name. She answered him with her favorite name of "Buddy" and tried to hug and kiss him, but he turned over and slept quietly for the first time for days.

The next day she knew her sisters and within a day or two was able to recognize all of them. She required no more quieting drugs and was soon in her right mind, and gradually recovered entirely.

It would seem that in her subconscious mind she knew that she was not at home. Her former efforts to get out of bed, her mummings "Let's go" was that desire for home and family. Though unconscious, she was homesick for home. Homesickness has much to do with upsetting the nervous system.

Case of a Homebody

Within the last week a woman who had to be taken to the hospital for a serious operation has proved my contention. She is sixty-three years old, has always been a homebody. She cared for her home, husband, and one son; and seldom was away except to market, to attend church, or for a day-long visit to her relatives.

Her husband told me that she didn't dread the operation so much, but that she was to be away from home; and that she had seldom been away from home over night. The operation was performed, and for five days her progress was satisfactory and uneventful. Suddenly, however, she changed and very violent and persistent vomiting occurred. No explanation could be given for the change.

In ten or twelve hours her condition became serious. Accidently, I heard that a gossiping visitor had the opinion that the doctor thought she would have to be in the hospital for four or five weeks. Within ten minutes the vomiting commenced. It gave me an idea. I casually remarked to her that I was sorry she had taken this turn, because I was arranging to have her go home the next day. I stretched the truth somewhat, but something had to be done.

She exclaimed, "Thank God for that!" and proceeded to get better. Some may say this was hysterical. Maybe it was, but homesickness caused it. Do not make light of homesickness. It is sometimes even a fatal condition.

Dr. Lawrence Plans Radium From Salt

By TALBOT LAKE

WE HAVE been hearing a good deal about radium lately. Plans have been made to reopen mining activities in Colorado for the ore from which radium is extracted, and scientists are seeking other means to increase the meager world supply. One of the most interesting "other ways" is a chemical process whereby artificial radium, possessing virtually all of the properties of real radium, will be evolved from common table salt.

The author of this chemical means is Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California. Considering the urgent need for more of the radium substance in use in cancer cases, Dr. Lawrence's announcement to the American Chemical Society is tremendously important. Besides salt, he proposes to use phosphorus and other minerals to bring about the transformation.

Dr. Lawrence is not just a dreamer. He has an honor record in the field of chemistry. Born in Canton, S. D., in 1901 he attended St. Olaf College in Minnesota and his own state university. He won a master's degree in Minnesota in 1923 and a doctorate during the next year at the University of Chicago. Yale made him a Doctor of Philosophy in 1925.

Among his earlier discoveries is a method to make the element sodium give out penetrating gamma rays by a chemical process. The new radium is more penetrating than any ever obtained, with energies of 500,000 electron volts. The most powerful of the natural gamma rays are of the order of 2,600,000 volts.

Like radium, the gamma rays are most useful in medicine. They are used in treatment of cancer in experiments to determine strength or weakness of living cells.

Wrong Shade Of Cosmetics Kills Makeup

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WHY is it, "women often ask, "that I can buy the finest brands of cosmetics and still my make-up doesn't look right? There may be several reasons. Cosmetics can accomplish miracles, but they cannot do so without some help from you.

The reason your make-up isn't as smooth and natural as you want it to be may be due to the selection of the wrong shades. A rouge or lipstick that is the least bit off-color may be conspicuous and give an effect of harshness. No matter how carefully you apply it. Powder that is too dark or too lifeless will make your skin appear sallow and aged, even though the brand is a well-known one and the texture is perfect for your skin.

Once you have found the right shades there is no guarantee that the results will be what you want. The wrong foundation may make your skin appear blotchy or oily soon after you have applied your make-up, or it may make your skin look dry and rough.

Finding the right foundation for your skin is not always an easy job. It means a careful analysis of your skin condition and a knowledge of the differences in various foundations. It also means trying out different kinds of the preparations that should be best for you.

There are slightly astringent powder foundations or liquid powders for the oily-skinned woman. There are vanishing and non-oily creams that are good for some. There are creamy, tinted emulsions and creams with some oil in them for the dry-skinned. Once you find the right foundation, the smoothness and lasting qualities of your make-up will be felt that the time spent in the search was well invested.

In selecting rouge and lipstick the only accurate test is to try them on your skin. Most manufacturers are glad to furnish you with tiny sample jars of rouge or lipstick. Blend the color carefully and then study the effect in both the bright sunlight and under artificial light. If you think some other color would be better, blend a small amount into an adjoining area and study both under the same conditions. It is impossible to judge color by name, or even by looking at the tin in the container. Try them and be sure.

With powder, remember that it is lighter on your skin than it is in the box. Here, too, it is wise to buy a tiny 10-cent box and try it out before you buy a larger container.

Still another reason why cosmetics do not always look as well as they should is that women cannot seem to get the habit of thoroughly removing old make-up before applying a fresh layer. Of course, there are times when the make-up becomes shiny and must be retouched, but do this only when absolutely necessary, and give your skin one cleansing and complete fresh make-up at least once during the day.

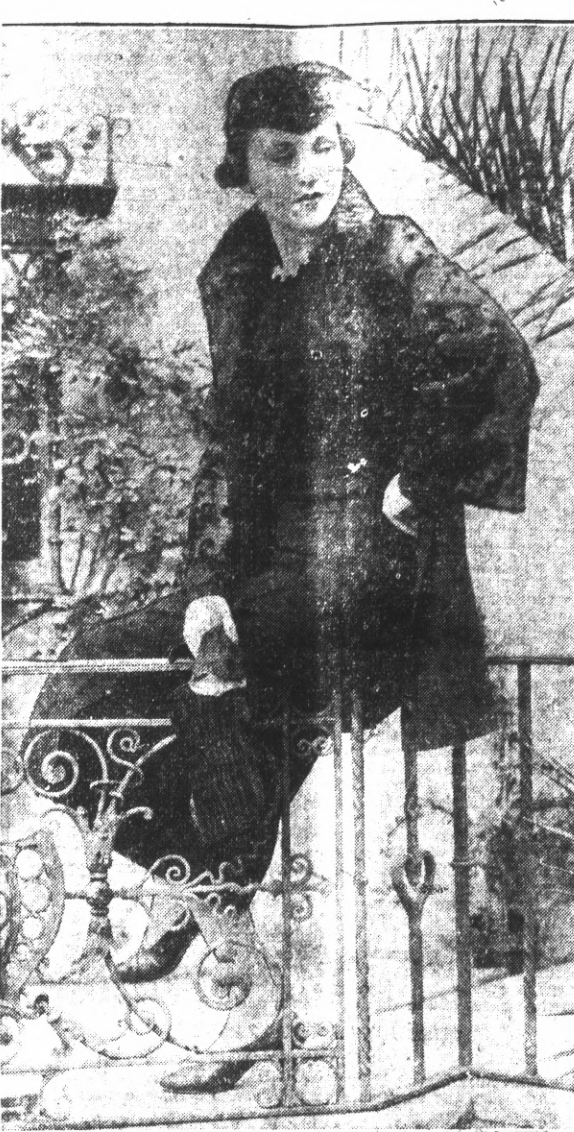

Beauty Tips

Every business girl or busy woman should make it a habit to carry a small bottle of liquid cleanser and two or three little cotton squares in her handbag at all times. Then if she receives an unexpected invitation to tea or dinner, or decides to make a call she can remove her old make-up and the whole procedure will take less time and give more satisfactory results than if she tries to retouch her old make-up.

QUESTION: "How can I best remove squint lines that I acquired on the beach this summer?"—Florence.

Smooth a bit of softening cream or a special eye cream around the eyes several nights a week. Massage gently with the fingertips inward under the eye and out over the lid and pat lightly at the corners. Vertical lines over the nose are best removed by stretching gently upward toward the hairline and patting lightly. Be sure that your reading lights are well-adjusted and strong enough to prevent any further strain and bad habits like squinting.

All Around Pleated Skirts Follow Out Grecian Style

By IRENE VAIL

New York—When it comes to a question of how and where your skirt should have its fullness, I respectfully suggest that you turn to your mirror for counsel. The designers who like gathers, gorges and panels at back instead of front are in the majority, but that need not dishearten any one who feels that whatever fullness her skirt may need should be behind instead of before. The all-around pleated skirt offers an agreeable alternative and many along this line. Pleats are part and parcel of the Grecian silhouette and front fullness is characteristic of the Egyptian. Patou is high priest of the Egyptian idea. Don't forget that if it pleats you want you may have them in tiers, with no lesser an authority than Vionnet to back up your judgment.

Vionnet, who is nothing if not different, chooses to ignore green, which is clever of her since she, more than any one of the Paris dressmakers, has been most faithful to it. Pottery tones, rust and shades ranging from the poppy to pimento, purplish blues and gingery browns are her current preferences, with pearly white for evening.

Nevertheless, green enters as a color at a time when it is laying it aside. Most reports of fashion goings on, both here and

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Can you suggest any rules of conduct for a week-end guest?"—P. R.

ANSWER: First and foremost is the rule that he must be agreeable at all times. He must fall in with his hosts' plans and suggestions. If he is fussy about food or on a diet he resists mentioning it. If he is asked, "How did you sleep?" he does not reply, "Not a wink after four. There was a fly buzzing in my room." He saves his hosts' feelings and says, "Fine!" Then upon returning home he does not forget to pen a thank-you note to his hosts.

QUESTION: "When thick soups are served in cups, may they be eaten with a spoon?"—Mrs. W. L.

ANSWER: Cream soups, vegetable soups or any other solid matter is taken with the spoon. The cup itself may be taken from the cup or with a spoon, according to the individual's taste.

Casserole Is Fine Idea for Cool Weather

By JUDITH WILSON

COOLER weather and heartier appetites mean that sturdy casserole dishes, pot roasts and boiled dinners are again in demand. If you select casserole combination or roast as your main course, plan the rest of the menu of baked dishes and desserts.

With pot roasts, of course, the potatoes and vegetables are usually cooked with the meat in one container, leaving only the dessert to be prepared in some other way. Often in the case of an oven or boiled dinner, the dessert can be a steamed pudding that is as tempting as it is unusual. This sort of meal planning means economy of fuel and time.

For oven cooking have a good assortment of tightly covered casseroles, individual ramekins and baking dishes. For top-of-the-stove cooking, a heavy Dutch oven, a steamer and heavy, tightly covered aluminum kettles are necessary. Here are some especially attractive main dishes:

SUPPERS
Hot Bouillon
Fresh Fruit Plate
Cheese Sandwiches
Cocoa with Marshmallows
Creamed Chicken on Fresh Corn Waffles
Fresh Pear-Caracul
Cherry Salad
Crisp Cookies

Stuffed Shoulder of Veal
Have the bone removed from a 3-pound shoulder of veal. Season well with salt and pepper and cover lightly with your favorite bread and onion dressing. Tie securely. Heat 2 tablespoons fat in a heavy kettle or Dutch oven and brown the meat on all sides. Add 6 potatoes and one-half cup hot water. Cover tightly and cook over slow heat for 1½ hours.

Fork Chops With Brown Rice
Brown 4 rather thick pork chops in 2 tablespoons fat. Remove from the pan and season well with salt and pepper. Wash 1 cup uncooked rice and brown in the hot fat, stirring frequently. Add 2 cups of canned tomatoes, ½ cups water, cup chopped green pepper, ½ cup chopped onion and 3 teaspoons brown sugar. Cover and cook over low heat for about 40 minutes.

Sausage Yorkshire Pudding
Make patties of fresh sausage meat and arrange in a lightly greased baking dish. Pour over them a batter made from 1 cup flour sifted with ½ teaspoon salt and blended with 1 cup sweet milk and 2 eggs beaten until very light and fluffy. When the batter is well browned, invert onto a hot chop plate, cut into squares with a sausage in the center of each, and serve very hot. This is delicious with a brown mushroom sauce.

Blackberry Pudding
Cream ¼ cup shortening and ½ cup sugar until light. Sift together 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt, then add alternately with ¼ cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla to the creamed mixture. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs and 3 cups blackberries that have been mixed with ¼ cup sugar. Pour into a greased pudding mold, cover with a lid or parchment paper and put into a steamer. The pudding can be steamed in your oven if you set the mold into a larger container half filled with hot water and covered. Steam 1½ hours.

Cherry Custard Pie
Use fresh sour cherries if they are available in your community.

MODERN WOMEN

His Vacation Is Spoiled Because His Wife Spent The "Fun Fund"

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

TO BE cheated out of a vacation because some one has misappropriated the vacation funds is my idea of a bad break. That it was the wife of this unfortunate man's bosom makes it even worse. No one can blame him for righteous indignation. It's only a fool who makes the same mistake twice.

It would be interesting, in this particular instance, to know which was the fool, the wife who hasn't learned her lesson or the husband who allows himself to be twice bookwinded.

"Dear Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Mays' troubles may seem trivial to you inasmuch as you hear so many woes from married people, but to me they seem overpowering. I have been awaiting and anticipating my summer vacation with the understanding that my wife was saving $5 a week toward a pleasure fund. We were supposed to start saving last January, keeping this money out of our regular weekly income. I am the only wage earner in the family. My wife was spoken to as secretary, but she has done nothing since we married.

"Two weeks ago I told my employer that I wanted to take my vacation beginning Labor Day and so informed my wife, taking it for granted that she had something set aside to reinforce our limited means.

"A week before I was supposed to leave on my vacation the wife informed me that she had found it necessary to spend our vacation reserve for her school bills. I was very sore because I have very little margin to work on and had believed all along that we were setting aside some fun money. I raised quite a rumpus and my wife hasn't spoken to me since. She does not even deign to tell me where the money went, or why. All sorts of suspicious ideas trouble me these days, and I would very much like to know if I can trust my wife in the future. If she treats me in this manner, there isn't much to look forward to."

Don't exaggerate. The facts are bad enough. Your wife certainly did not do right in mispending your vacation fund. She should have told you that she was going to spend the money for school bills. It was impossible to put aside $5.00 a week for it is impossible to keep track of it.

I understand your disappointment and also your feeling of lost confidence in her. We are all prone to error and liable to mistakes. She has made a bad one, but let us hope the rumpus you mention having raised was sufficient to have cured her once and for all of tampering with a trust-fund.

Detailed Account Difficult

It is asking a good deal of anyone to expect her to give a detailed account of expenditures. Instead of thinking that she would not tell you where this money has gone, try to believe that she just can't give you an itemized account of it.

I would suggest that you make some other arrangement about saving for vacations or any purpose. Or are you as bad as she, and not to be trusted with a few extra dollars?

I sincerely hope that you will not be done out of your vacation. Why not take it, if at all possible, and leave her home—that's my idea of a punishment to fit the crime.

She has probably realized long before this that she did wrong in not admitting long ago that your vacation funds were not forthcoming and will take her full sentence like a good sport, in which case all's well that ends well.

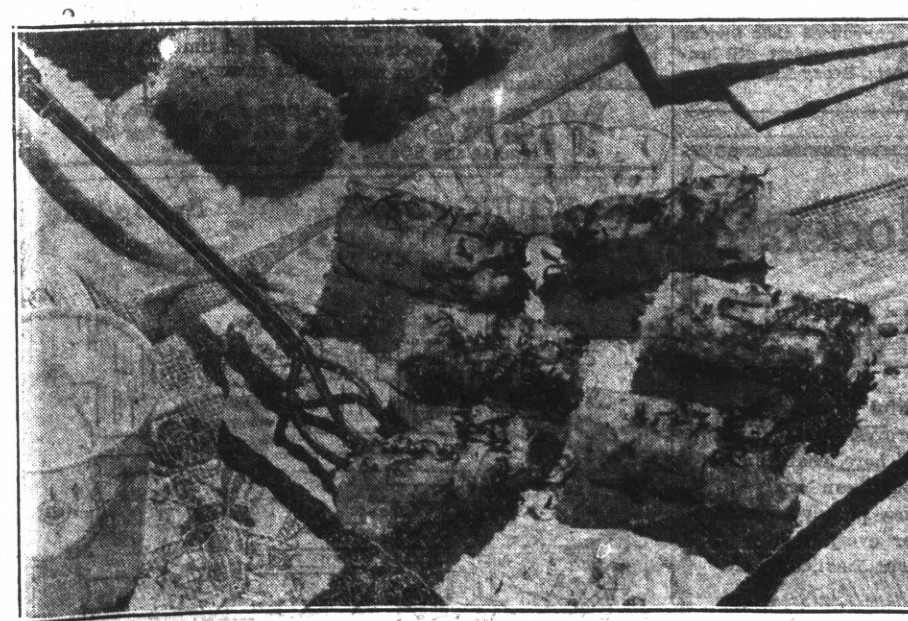

Short Cuts

The longer a lettuce is allowed to remain in a refrigerator, the more it contaminates other foods. Therefore, try to use the oldest lettuce first, and buy in small quantities, but usually so that food from one meal is not left over for more than a day or two at the most.

Delicate fabrics have a longer life if perspiration and dirt are not allowed to remain in them. The wear and tear on fine silken undergarments decreases if washed in a bowl of warm water; the minute one slips out of them at night.

The average iron weighs between three and four pounds, and unless the homemaker is accustomed to heaving and hauling weights in other household activities, ironing is apt to prove a greater strain than it need be. Glide the iron over the material with a swift motion, and rest in an upright position.

GREAT FOR THE PICNIC

Toasted Coconut Sticks: Trim the crusts from thick slices of stale bread and cut into fingers. Dip into sweetened condensed milk and roll in shredded coconut. Toast on all sides until lightly browned. This makes a nice picnic dessert as the coconut sticks can be toasted over the hot coals.

Meanwhile, although there were no idle ships here, two vessels remained tied up at San Pedro by labor trouble.

CHRYSLER QUIT

According to dispatches, eight members of the crew of the freighter P. Ancha quit their jobs in protest against sailing for Gulf of Mexico ports, where a longshoremen's strike is in progress.

The Matson freighter General M. H. Sherman continued tied up at its dock by firemen who deserted the vessel when an "objectionable" brand of lubricating oil had been taken aboard.

NEW APPEALS

Because of the San Pedro situation, the Pacific American Shipowners' Association here sent new appeals to Edward F. McGrady, assistant Secretary of Labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Victor A. Olander, secretary of the International Seamen's Union.

A telegram to McGrady stated: "It appears that the seamen's Union, through the Maritime Federation, has taken up the 'hot cargo' issue and are actively encouraging in sympathy strikes both on British Columbia ships and on handling products of companies whose products are boycotted."

The shipowners asked McGrady to request Attorney General Cummings to take appropriate action.

Two Are Killed 14 Are Injured In Stage Blast

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16 Two women, one man and a child were killed when a box of dynamite exploded in a passenger motor bus in the outskirts of Merida, Yucatan, according to dispatches to the newspaper La Prensa. Fourteen other passengers were injured.

The accident occurred after a bricklayer entered the bus, carrying dynamite sticks and caps for blasting in a nearby quarry. The bus was blown to splinters.

100,000 Ethiops To Defend Harar From Attack By Invaders

dis Ababa correspondent telegraphed today that new Ethiopian forces were reported moving south to harass the Italian left flank and attempt to cut General Graziani's line of communications along the Wabe Shebelle river which flows from the Ethiopian plateau through Oromia province to enter the sea in Italian Somaliland.

The Ethiopians also count on the fact that many of the water-holes along the Italian line of advance will evaporate as the dry season advances, leaving the Italians without water.

HARAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 16—UP Italian airplanes attached to General Rodolfo Graziani's columns invading Oromia province from Italian Somaliland late today bombed Ethiopian concentrations 40 miles from Jijiga, indicating that Graziani may be pressing his attack designed to reach this well-trodden and the important railway junction of the kind. SPEAKERS VOICE CRITICISM OF F. D. R. POLICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Police of the Roosevelt Administration came up for pointed criticism today by Ogden L. Mills, former Republican Secretary of the Treasury, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

Mills and Sloan addressed the fifth annual Forum sponsored by the New York Herald-Tribune. Mills declared the "new order" in Government can only destroy security, not assure it.

"The new order is concerned neither with liberty nor individual opportunity," he charged, "for liberty it would substitute authority; for individual initiative and responsibility, government planning. But it does stress security."

"The irony of it is that of all conditions to which men aspire, security is the one which the new order is least of all able to assure."

PROTESTS THEORY

Sloan protested against what he called the "theory of security" and in which he included demands for the substance home-ownership, the 30-hour week, the prohibition of new machinery, and acreage reduction.

"There is no justification for such thinking," he said. "The fact demonstrate that America has not yet reached the stage of industrial development in which it has the plant or the ability to produce more than it consumes. As a whole, would like to consume."

"As a matter of fact, we can not materially shorten the working day even to the point where we have already shortened it, and produce the quantity of goods and services which the American people can consume."

UPHELD BY CAROTHERS

The theory that Government interference is an obstacle to recovery was upheld by Dr. Neil Carothers, professor of economics and director of the College of Business Administration of Lehigh University.

Dr. Carothers argued there is "no possible substitute" for two fundamentals of our economic system—capitalistic industry resting on the institutions of private property and freedom of enterprise.

There is much talk of Slip Mall, ran being parted from his job when his contract with St. Mary's expires, Slip says the idea is "ridiculous," but admitting that it is, it is not conducive to peace of mind. Then there is the University of San Francisco coach, Spud Lewis, concerning whom some unkind things are being said in and out of the classic precincts of the University of San Francisco campus. Even Tiny Thornhill of Stanford whose Indians failed to make the grade last Saturday against U. C. L. A. is not immune to unkind remarks.

It thus seems that when riding on the top of the wave, a football coach is a great man, but when his team loses—God help him.

SPIRITS ENTER TESTIMONY IN MOONEY CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16—The Mooney hearing was enlivened with allusions to the occult today, when testimony was read into the record in which a witness said that an "astral spirit" aided her in accusing Mooney and Warren K. Billings of the 1935 bomb explosion.

The testimony was that of Captain W. J. Peterson, former Oakland police chief, who said Mrs. Melba Edgum first told him she had seen Mooney at the explosion scene and later testified she had seen him at 721 Market street, near Third street.

When taxed with the discrepancy, Peterson said she told him she could have been at Steuart and Market streets while her astral spirit saw Mooney farther west.

Mrs. Earl Hatcher, Woodland, confirmed her husband's testimony that Frank Oxman, witness against Mooney, had not left Woodland until 2 P.M. on the day of the explosion. Hatcher said he had signed a statement saying Oxman left in the morning "to help out a friend."

$10,000 Damages As Blaze Razes San Pablo Ranch

Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused yesterday afternoon when fire destroyed two barns and a dairy house on the George Eckhart ranch in San Pablo canyon. Spontaneous combustion in a haystack is believed the cause of the blaze.

San Pablo volunteer firemen, county fire apparatus and Engine 3 of the Richmond fire department were called to the ranch to combat the blaze.

More than 200 tons of alfalfa were destroyed before the flames were discovered by Eckhart. Firemen were hampered in fighting the blaze by lack of water. Firemen were able to save the Eckhart home 100 feet from the barns. From the main barn the flames spread to a milk room, house, destroying a $400 ammonia cooling plant.

The ranch is owned by E. M. Downer and is occupied by Mrs. and Mrs. Eckhart. They maintain a herd of about 150 dairy cattle. No stock was lost in the flames as the animals were out on the range.

MISS ANNA SHAW of Mira Vista had her appendix removed at a local hospital yesterday. Dr. E. R. Guinan was the attending physician.
